#Art

Josh Rowell, An image of the Self, from Day 8, 939, 2015, Acrylic on Canvas, 120 x 80 cm, Uffizi Gallery Collection | Courtesy Josh Rowell

This first solo exhibition by Josh Rowell in the Middle East delves into the realms of ethics, communication and the evolving digital landscape, inviting viewers to contemplate the moral codes that shape our society. At the center of the exhibition is an installation inspired by Aesop's fables. Timeless tales that serve as a poignant reminder of the enduring importance of moral values in today's world. Rowell seamlessly blends art, technology and language, blurring the lines between digital and tangible. By meticulously hand-painting passages of text, he creates intricate color coding systems, symbolizing the complex coding systems that underpin our interconnected digital realm.
